

Teachers' Institute Opens 3-Day Session Tomorrow

Jackson County Teachers' Institute will be held in Ashland September 10, 11 and 12.

All schools in the county will be closed on those three days, and every teacher who is teaching now or who expects to teach during the year must attend. The law requires all schools to be closed and also requires teachers to attend for at least 16 hours during the three days session.

Many of the most capable institute lecturers and instructors on the coast are on the program. Among those who come from a distance might be mentioned State Superintendent J. A. Churchill, J. F. Brumbaugh of the Department of Psychology from the Oregon Agricultural college, also Professor Edwin T. Reed, college editor, from the same institution. From the Oregon State Normal school will be Miss Ida Mae Smith, primary critic; also Mrs. Margaret Curran, institute lecturer and rural school specialist. From the University of Oregon will be Miss Mabel Cummings, director women's gymnasium, and Professor C. A. Gregory, head of the bureau of educational research. Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant state club leader, will assist Supervisor Morris and his club members in this county in giving canning demonstrations and preparing club exhibits at the institute. Miss Mildred Morrissey of the A. N. Palmer company of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will offer some practical course in this method adopted by the State text book commission. Dr. William T. Foster of Reed college will give two lectures on the last day of the institute. For his closing lecture he will give an illustrated talk on re-education, which is the outcome of his recent trip of investigation along the battle front in Europe.

Physical education, which is by a recent law made compulsory in every school of the state, is to receive special attention. Considerable stress will also be given to the course of study and to the new text book adoptions which are to be used in our schools during the next six years. Results of the educational tests given in our schools last year will be studied and plans laid for correcting defects in our educational system as shown thereby. The program is full of plans, aids and suggestions for the wide awake teacher who will be able to apply them from the first of the term.

The lectures are free to the public and since many of them are of special interest to those not engaged in teaching, many patrons of the schools will likely attend.

The programs begin promptly at 9 o'clock on each morning. After one and one-half hour at noon the sessions will be resumed until 4:30. There will be no evening sessions.

A general assembly of all teachers will be held in the large auditorium each day beginning at 9 o'clock and again at 3:10, during which time assembly addresses will be delivered upon timely topics of interest to all. The rest of the time each day will be taken up with discussions in the various departments which will be divided into primary, grammar grade, rural, high school and principals, or special sessions.

The institute promises to be the best ever held in the county.

Living Costs Hinge on Peace-Wilson

(By the United Press)
STATE CAPITOL, ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 2.—Ratification of the peace treaty is essential to "settling down" of the world to conditions which will tend to a lower cost of living, President Wilson told a special session of the Minnesota legislature here today.

The cost of living is primarily a world condition, due to losses of man power in the war, and demoralization of industry, he said.

Factories must be devoted to peaceful purposes and labor redistributed. This process cannot begin, he urged, until a real peace is assured by ratification of the treaty. Commerce is resumed and things begin to settle down.

He asserted that labor is now unsatisfied with its relations with the employers. This condition is world wide, he declared, and mentioned the labor section of the peace treaty as a means of ending this state of dissatisfaction.

He stated that when the labor problems are solved production will proceed by leaps and bounds and "that will be one means of reducing the cost of living."

The president said the senators who oppose the League of Nations are afflicted with "just downright ignorance." He asserted we must play our part in world affairs, and we must play this part "either inside or on the curb." He said the United States must accept its great world responsibilities or "scuttle now and come back later."

The president asserted that the labor clauses in the treaty are aimed to establish something approaching American labor conditions everywhere, insofar as possible.

There must be a constructive program regarding labor to relieve the strain all over the world, he declared.

The interests of both capital and labor are both concerned in this, he said.

Labor, he added, can no longer be regarded as a commodity.

The legislators listened for the most part in silence, leaning forward in their chairs to hear better.

Wilson argued that America should help the world to get on its feet, so that trade might be re-established for America's financial betterment.

The president received a noisy welcome when he entered the chamber of the legislature, which overwhelmingly republican.

There was applause when it was announced that there would be no smoking in the chamber during his speech. Governor Burnquist made the introduction.

TOMMASINO BAND AT LITHIA PARK

A musical treat is in store for Ashland citizens next Saturday evening, September 13, when Tommasino's great exposition band will give an open air concert in Lithia park. This band is traveling on the coast for the purpose of filling engagements at the big events, such as the California, Oregon and Washington State fairs, etc. It is composed of twenty soloists and a wonderful soprano singer, Miss Ethelyn Ostrom.

Sig. Tommasino leads the band without the aid of a score, and has a very pleasing personality, while many members were service men during the war some of whom saw action at the front. A program will be rendered from the highest classical productions, with encores from popular selections.
